

NEW DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS

Thanks largely to your commitment to the ministry, God has blessed us with a huge answer to prayer this year by providing a new Director of Operations at Noble Warriors. We can't wait to introduce Tim Brown to you in person!

We've been praying for quite some time, and we couldn't be more thrilled that God has provided a guy like Tim, whose personal and professional backgrounds exhibit his qualifications for the job and commitment to excellence in all he does. He is dedicated to men's ministry and has even been involved with Noble Warriors since the first Men's Fraternity groups back in 2005!

Tim being here makes space for the ministry to do more. God has blessed this organization these last 19 years despite our human shortcomings, and we have walked obediently and watched God work.

Each of us needs the body of Christ to do Kingdom work. Tim and I are gifted and wired in different ways, and when he manages the operational aspects that he's gifted to perform, it frees up my time to do what God requires of me. At our Leader's Conference, it was glorious to teach men, have personal conversations with pastors, and reconnect with guys I haven't seen in years. God opened doors for the next conversations with these pastors who want our experience and wisdom on how to reach and build men through their local churches. Not once was I concerned about the day's operations as Tim stepped in and stepped up.

With this incredible added blessing to the ministry, our financial necessities also grow. We covet your prayers and partnership as we pray for God's wisdom in moving to the next level of impact. We know that God uses any and every gift to the ministry for his glory. If you have not already, we humbly ask that you prayerfully consider supporting us as a monthly financial partner to aid in this endeavor.

Please join me in extending a warm welcome to Tim as we embark on this exciting journey together! His commitment to staying connected with men's discipleship resources, strategies, initiatives, and movements will undoubtedly contribute to furthering the ministry. We are confident that his passion, experience, and commitment will be pivotal in advancing Noble Warriors' mission.

When you bring your men to the Noble Warriors Men's Conference in your area, whether in Fredericksburg, Roanoke, or Richmond, make sure you find Tim and welcome him to the team!

Tim Brown, Director of Operations

Personal Info:

Tim and his wife, Lisa, are the proud parents of two adult children, Meredith (son-in-law, Eric) and Mitchell. They reside in Mechanicsville, VA, and are active members of Mount Vernon Baptist Church (Glen Allen, VA), where they contribute to various ministries.

Their family shares a deep passion for positively impacting the lives of orphaned children. This passion was ignited when they adopted their son from an orphanage in Aktobe, Kazakhstan, in the summer of 2000. This transformative experience has inspired them to work tirelessly to support orphaned and at-risk children.

Professional Background:

Tim brings 35 years of career experience in Audit/Risk/Compliance, having worked with consulting firms (North Highland, Spinnaker Consulting, and Thought Logic) and organizations such as TowneBank, SunTrust Mortgage, Wells Fargo Advisors, GE Financial, the Commonwealth of Virginia, and Aon/Life of Virginia.

His credentials as a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), Certified Regulatory Compliance Manager (CRCM), and a Six Sigma-trained professional, coupled with dual degrees from Virginia Tech in Accounting and Finance, reflect his dedication to excellence.

In October 2019, Tim and Lisa embarked on a six-month journey to Taraz, Kazakhstan, where he served as the Field Director for a humanitarian aid organization, leading strategic projects with the local staff. Despite their initial plan to stay for at least two years, unforeseen challenges related to the impact of COVID-19 brought them back home.

What This Means for Noble Warriors:

Tim's leadership capabilities and extensive background in project/process improvement and strategic coordination will contribute to the growth of Noble Warriors and the pastors and men we serve.

He will play a crucial role in the ministry's operational success and the development and implementation of our strategic ministry plan, and he'll continue actively participating in Noble Warriors Board of Directors meetings. He will also supervise the planning and execution of Noble Warriors conferences and high-level events, ensuring these impactful initiatives thrive.
